

Joseph Smith bracket clock

During autumn 2014, we heard from a collector who had bought a bracket clock made by Joseph Smith. It is a timepiece, with Knibb-type repeat. When a cord is pulled, the last hour is struck, followed by the last quarter (ting tang). It was probably made during the period between 1725 and 1740.

We are very pleased to be able to include these images on our website.

The image far right shows the clock after restoration; the other three images were taken before any work was done.
