

Joseph Smith three train longcase clock

Another of Joseph Smith's clocks was discovered in late 2014. It is a three train, full quarter chiming longcase clock with a very fine movement and beautiful walnut case. The plain matted centre of the dial is finely engraved with two flying birds.

This is the only three train longcase by Joseph Smith we know of, despite having been interested in his clocks for at least the last fifteen years.

